GERARD ASSAILED AGAIN IN GERMANY

Ambassador Taken to Task for His Views on U-Boat Warfare

DENIES CHARGE THAT HE IS PRO-BRITISH

Ambassador in Berlin May Return Home for a Vacation if the Submarine Activities Do Not Prevent Him from Leaving Post.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 14.—James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, is again under fire in a section of the German press, this time for a remark attributed to him regarding a speech made recently by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, National Liberal member of the Reichstag, advocating among other things a resumption of the submarine warfare.

Ambassador Gerard is quoted as saying that he did not understand how the representatives of districts for which export to America was a vital question could advocate ruthless submarine warfare.

The National Liberal Press agency in a communication to the newspapers takes the ambassador to task for what is termed "unwarranted intervention in a purely German question," and says that the ambassador's remark is characterized by "that presumptuousness which believes that the decision affecting Germany's political future will be dictated by Germany's American export interests."

The agency communication declares that Ambassador Gerard would do better to leave to the responsible German authorities the decision on what use is to be made of the means at their disposal against England, and adds:

"The art or manner in which Ambassador Gerard and not for the first time, looks after British interests is extremely characteristic of his general attitude."

The American ambassador in reply says he never heard of Dr. Stresemann's speech and certainly never made any public utterance of the nature attributed to him. But so far as his attitude on the submarine issue is concerned, he declares, it is based on pro-American, not pro-British, motives.

Non-partisan newspaper observers who are in touch with leading statesmen and politicians express the opinion that for the present at least he will raise no question of a change in submarine policy. The administration of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg now feels itself fully in control of the situation in this respect. The controversy over the methods employed in connection with the food dictatorship has supplanted the submarine issue in the conservative and other newspapers which are opposed to the Chancellor.

These newspapers are engaged in arguing with Adolph von Batocki, head of the food regulation board, the pros and cons of compulsory production as opposed to an increase or abolition of maximum prices as the method of enlarging the production of foodstuffs.

Herr von Batocki has declared himself a convinced opponent of the theory that the food problem could best be solved by compulsory methods; that is, by prescribing what farmers should plant. But he also has little sympathy with the demand of the agrarians for increase or removal of maximum prices to encourage production. Accordingly the present system will continue.

Should the submarine situation remain as at present and should he be assured that no revival of the under-water campaign is contemplated, Ambassador Gerard may take advantage of the opportunity for a trip to the United States, as he feels the need of a vacation.

fixes an eight-hour pay day and not an eight-hour work day.

Mr. Dunn's remarks were addressed to delegates to the convention of the Railway Signal Association.

"This law," said Mr. Dunn, "does not limit the number of hours that railway employees may work in a day. It merely limits the number of hours that the railway may require them to work before it pays them a day's wage. In other words, it fixed an eight-hour pay day, and not an eight-hour work day."

"It is certain that under this law, if it should be upheld, the railways would have to pay a day's wage for eight hours' work, but it is not equally obvious that the law prohibits them from paying any employee in the train service a day's wage before he has done at least eight hours' work. It says eight hours, no more and no less, shall be the standard. It would appear, therefore, that under this provision if the railways should pay any employee a day's wage for less than eight hours' work they would violate the law and subject themselves to its pains and penalties."

Many trainmen in passenger service, it is said, receive full pay for less than eight hours' work.

MILE A MINUTE COP'S SPEEDING DAYS OVER

Charles M. Murphy, New York Policeman, Badly Hurt in Crash with Sightseeing Bus.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—"Mile a Minute" Murphy will never ride a bicycle or a motorcycle again, and his cherished dream of capturing aerial burglars in his biplane will never be realized, because he'll never fly again, even if he is able to put on his uniform. For the New York policeman, who is known far and wide for his hair-raising escapades and his narrow escapes from death, met with an accident last night that probably will cause him to walk on crutches the rest of his life.

It was a prosaic sightseeing bus that got Murphy, the man who has been buried in quicksand, bumped in an airplane and run over by a touring car that smashed most of his ribs. He was riding over the Manhattan bridge a little after 6 o'clock last night when his motorcycle wheel slipped and hit the hub of one of the Empire State Company's vehicles. He was thrown to the bridge unconscious, with a broken left leg and a compound fracture of the left knee. He was removed to Gouverneur hospital, where it was said that his knee probably will be stiff as long as he lives. The leg was put in a plaster cast.

Murphy won fame, and the nickname that is better known than was his own of Charles M., when he was a Long Island railroad train he went a sixty mile an hour clip in 1899, riding on a board track between the rails. As a bicycle rider he won 1,800 prizes, but he gave up the game to join the police force. Except for a short time when a vaudeville offer tempted him he has worn the uniform since. He has been in a score of accidents and had almost every bone of his body broken, but he always came out of the hospital as good as new.

Non-partisan newspaper observers who are in touch with leading statesmen and politicians express the opinion that for the present at least he will raise no question of a change in submarine policy. The administration of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg now feels itself fully in control of the situation in this respect. The controversy over the methods employed in connection with the food dictatorship has supplanted the submarine issue in the conservative and other newspapers which are opposed to the Chancellor.

These newspapers are engaged in arguing with Adolph von Batocki, head of the food regulation board, the pros and cons of compulsory production as opposed to an increase or abolition of maximum prices as the method of enlarging the production of foodstuffs.

Herr von Batocki has declared himself a convinced opponent of the theory that the food problem could best be solved by compulsory methods; that is, by prescribing what farmers should plant. But he also has little sympathy with the demand of the agrarians for increase or removal of maximum prices to encourage production. Accordingly the present system will continue.

Should the submarine situation remain as at present and should he be assured that no revival of the under-water campaign is contemplated, Ambassador Gerard may take advantage of the opportunity for a trip to the United States, as he feels the need of a vacation.

BELLOWS FALLS IS OUT IN THE COLD

Under the Primary System—Southern Part of County Gets All the Offices But One.

BELLOWS FALLS, Sept. 14.—When the voters of this section of the county awoke yesterday morning they found that so far as the county ticket is concerned the north end of Windham county might as well be in Timbuctu. Judge Warner A. Graham, judge of probate for the district of Westminster, is the only Republican nominee in the so-called north section of the county. There were those in the groups which gathered in the square to get the names who were unkind enough to say that the south end would have grabbed this office also had there been an opportunity.

When the returns from the county became known the shock was apparent. In fact, the disturbance was such as to interfere with business in the offices and stores. It was noted that the south end had secured all the nominations on the Republican ticket, including state's attorney, sheriff and side judges, leaving the north end practically marooned so far as county offices are concerned.

While it is appreciated that good men were nominated for all the offices the north end politicians appear to be of the opinion that fate has stacked the cards against them.

Henceforth it had been an unwritten law that the north and south ends of the county should split fifty-fifty in making up the Republican ticket, but the primary law has changed all this.

FRANKLIN COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 26 AND 27

Elaborate Plans for a Record-Breaking Exhibition—"Something Doing Every Minute."

For 66 consecutive years the Franklin County Agricultural society has held a fair at Franklin Park, Greenfield, and the growing merit of its show through all this long period entitles it to rank among the leading fairs of New England. In no year has the society made such elaborate plans for a record breaking exhibition as it has in the past twelve months, and the annual fair of Tuesday and Wednesday, September 26 and 27, will be of a character to surprise even those who are familiar with Greenfield shows of past years. A monster exhibit of pure-bred cattle of the highest quality, drawn from all corners of Western New England, sheep and swine, the pick of Franklin county's finest, a noted show of blooded horses, both draft and trotting stock, a crowded hall and poultry house, exciting trotting and the most extensive bill of vaudeville and special entertainment features ever gathered at a Greenfield fair will be seen there.

The policy of the Franklin County society has always been to present a show thoroughly modern in all its features, but at the same time to retain all the spirit and flavor of the old-fashioned New England fair of a generation ago. Hence, at Greenfield may still be seen the draft contest between yokes of oxen and between teams of horses, boys' trained steer exhibitions and the country horse trot. But above and beyond this is the Greenfield plan of keeping "something doing every minute" and the spectator will find no dull moments.

The vaudeville bill this year includes the Rudy Bellong company in a thrilling aerial act in which a young woman "loops the loop" on a bicycle in a cycle whirl held upon the shoulders of two men; Russell and Frank in their great comedy acrobatic stunt, entitled "A Monkey up a Pole"; the Savages, sensational sharp shooters, and Bonette Brothers in balloon ascension and triple parachute drops. All acts will be given twice daily from a stage directly in front of the grandstand.

Trotting purses have been increased and the entry list for the races will be the largest in many years.

Through the expenditure of over $6,000 on its grounds and buildings this year the society has now one of the best equipped parks in New England. The big oval inside the track offers splendid facilities for parking automobiles, and from here practically the entire show may be seen.

CHARGES AGAINST RUSSIANS. German Accusation That They Kill Prisoners.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—"Russian methods of warfare are described by several eyewitnesses," says the Overseas news agency. "An Austrian sergeant-major who escaped from the Russians reports that soldiers of the 22d and 23d Siberian rifles told him that three Germans who were captured were taken behind the lines and stabbed on the command of Russian officers. A non-commissioned officer of the Cossack said a Russian order had been issued to kill prisoners of war."

"Three Russian soldiers of the 5th Turkoman rifles, who are now prisoners of war, state that the commander of their company repeatedly ordered them not to take German prisoners, but to kill them. A special order issued August 2 says: 'Comrades, when we attack, everyone shall keep in mind that Austrians may be taken prisoners, but that Germans as far as possible shall be killed.' Two other prisoners, German-speaking Russians, who belonged to the 39th regiment, say that in July a regimental order was read to them forbidding them to take German prisoners."

EIGHT-HOUR LAW MAY BE BOOMERANG

Fixes an Eight-Hour Pay Day, But Not an Eight-Hour Work Day, It Is Claimed.

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Sept. 14.—Samuel O. Dunn of Chicago, editor of a railroad magazine and who acted in an advisory capacity to the railroad presidents in the negotiations which preceded the passage of the Adamson law, suggested in a speech here that the eight-hour law may prove a boomerang to the Brotherhoods. He asserted that the law
